Judge Mann Succumbs to Illness

Judge Russell Mann, ex-County Judge of Bourbon, Confederate soldier and prominent lawyer, died at his home on Pleasant street in this city yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock after an illness of several weeks of general debility.

About five weeks ago Judge Mann suffered an attack and has since been confined to his bed, although previous to that time he had a slight illness which confined him to his room for about a week, the direct cause being rheumatism from which he had been a constant sufferer for a number of years.

At the opening of the Civil War Judge Mann entered the service of the Confederate army enlisting in Company C, Ninth Kentucky, in the company of Capt. Ed Taylor, and served in the command of General John H. Morgan. In this company he participated in all the principal events and campaigns of General Morgan, up to the time the intrepid cavalry leader started with his command on the Ohio raid, when the company under Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge was transferred to the command of General Wheeler.

Judge Mann was a native of Nicholas county, but early in life moved with his parents to Millersburg, where they resided for a number of years. Prior to his removal to Paris he resided on a farm and engaged in the pursuit of agriculture. He began the practice of law and first served this county in the capacity of County Attorney.

On September 26, 1888, the Bourbon Fiscal Court by a unanimous vote elected him to the office of County Judge to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Judge Matt Turney, and served until August 1889 when he was nominated by the Democratic party and elected for a term of four years. In 1894 he was a candidate for re-election but was defeated in the regular election by Judge H. C. Howard, who succeeded him in January 1895.

Under the appointment of Governor J. C. W. Beckham Judge Mann was made Master Commissioner of the Bourbon Circuit Court on June 28, 1905, which office he held until the time of his death. He was a prominent member of the Bourbon bar and one of the best known attorneys of Central Kentucky.

Until his late illness he has always taken an active part in the affairs of the Confederate Veterans Association, of which he was a member. He is survived by his wife, who before marriage was Miss Kate Hethercraft, two sons, Mr. Whittington Mann, of Paris, and Attorney Ray Mann, of Louisville, three daughters, Mrs. Walter Kenney, Mrs. R. S. Swango and Mrs. W. K. Dudley, of Paris. Up to a late hour last night the funeral arrangements had not been completed.

May Be Wanted In Atlanta For Murder.

Thomas Woods, colored, alias Harry Matthews, alias Harry Stewart, was arrested and landed in jail Monday night by Patrolman Fred Link, on a charge of robbery, and according to information may be a fugitive from Atlanta, Ga., wanted in that city for murder.

The arrest of Woods came about after a week of clever work on the part of Patrolman Link, who has been on the close lookout for a number of thieves that have been operating in this city. Woods, it is believed, is at the head of an organized band that have centered their operations on the groceries and other stores in Paris, and have succeeded in making away with a large amount of goods.

A few weeks ago the News published an account of a very bold and successful scheme on the part of the negroes in the theft of goods from various grocery stores and when the matter was reported to the police Patrolman Link went to work on the case. Sunday night he met Woods on the street and on being unable to give a satisfactory account of where he had been during the night was told by the officer to go to his home. This move of the officer was for the purpose of getting an idea of where the negro was staying.

Woods succeeded in getting away but on Monday night Patrolman Link came across him again, and on this occasion he was carrying a bundle. Link followed him to the restaurant of Rachel Jefferson on Eighth street, where he arrested the negro who was making an effort to dispose of the package, which contained a side of bacon, to the negress.

Woods was employed with a construction company here and a companion has given the information to the officers that the negro is wanted in Atlanta, Ga., for murder. Woods admitted to the officers that he came here from Atlanta. The local department communicated with the police department of that city, and a reply is expected at any time. It is said a big reward is offered for the capture of the Atlanta murderer, and in case Woods should be the man wanted by the Atlanta police, this reward will go to Patrolman Link.

Will Smith, a negro, who it is said has been associated with Woods and others in their operations in Paris was arrested Wednesday night by Patrolmen Link and McKinney and locked up. It is expected the remainder of the organized band will be run in within the next few days. Their arrest will have the effect of breaking up the boldest band of thieves that ever struck Paris.

Getting First Hand Facts.

Sixty of the Democratic members of the House of Representatives are utilizing the holiday recess to make a first hand study of conditions in the Panama canal zone. Inasmuch as the canal is eating up government money at the rate of several-thousands of dollars a day the Democrats hold that it is their duty to see, personally, that this money is being wisely and properly spent. The question of fortifying the canal will come up soon, and as this will mean a large additional expenditure, the Democrats propose to know just why and where this money is to be expended. Hence they are taking advantage of the temporary letup in affairs at Washington to investigate.

Speaker Clark has urged all the Democrats to visit the canal zone at some time, and practically all of them propose to follow his advice. This is in line with the announced Democratic program to get to the bottom of every proposition which calls for an expenditure of government money.

Seeking a Way Out.

That the men who control the big industrial corporations of the country are convinced that the people are determined to break up these monopolies, and that they are seeking a way to escape this mandate of the people, are among the most important facts brought out by the Senate trust investigating committee.

Louis D. Brandeis, the noted Boston lawyer, told the committee that the statements of Mr. Gary and Mr. Perkins, that the trusts were willing to accept a price fixing law, were only apparent concessions. What the magnates want, Mr. Brandeis said, is the passage of the Aldrich monetary scheme, which will insure the continuance of centralized control of money and credit, on which all business depends. These magnates, the lawyer testified, are bending every effort to gain the enactment of the Aldrich plan into law, and one of their methods, he said, was to blind the people to their real purpose by making them believe the trusts are willing to surrender.

FRANCIS WILSON.

Any one who can make us laugh these days is always welcome in our midst, therefore, the announcement that the popular comedian, Francis Wilson, is to be seen locally in his own comedy fare, "The Bachelor's Baby," is one that will please all classes of playgoers, for the play has the qualities to amuse the old and young alike. There is laughter in "The Bachelor's Baby," some tears, bright dialogues, very amusing scenes and there is a well told straightforward story. "The Bachelor's Baby" tells a story of a bachelor who hates children. His brother and the latter's wife are lost at sea and the bachelor falls heir to their little daughter, whose heart she wins long before he is himself aware of it. Incidentally there is a love story woven into the comedy which has become very entangled on account of the hero's pronounced ideas in regard to children. This, too, is straightened out by the little girl and so the comedy ends to the satisfaction of every one. Charles Forbman presents Francis Wilson in "The Bachelor's Baby" at the Lexington Opera House January 17.

MOTHER.

"Mother," the play that received from one of the most conservative dramatic critics of today the appellation of "The Play of the Century," will be the attraction at the Lexington Opera House Saturday matinee and night.

Jules Eckert Goodman, who wrote "The Test," "The Man Who Stood Still," and several other recent successes, is the author of this latest of uplift dramas, and from all indications it would appear that his "Mother" will live to see another such career as "Way Down East" and "The Old Homestead."

One able dramatic writer once said that the play most likely destined to long life is the one that can make an audience cry at one moment and force away the tears by hearty laughter. If this be a good criterion, "Mother" will still be entertaining playgoers when the present generation is no more, for it is indeed a difficult task to tell when the audiences who see this piece are laughing or crying. Some theatre goers like only the sentimental plays, while others will not go to see anything that fails to create merriment. It is altogether plausible then to believe that "Mother" will meet the exactions of every man, woman and child who frequents a playhouse. It is just one of those simple plays which enjoy success by reason of this same simplicity and homely environment.

Mr. Wm. A. Brady, the producer, who also controls the destinies of "Baby Mine," "Over Night," "The Boss," and other pronounced successes of the present season, will send the original New York cast and production for the engagement there.

Thirty Years Together.

Thirty years of association, think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guesswork in this evidence of Thos. Ariss, Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and its the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it forty years. It's the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequalled for lagrripe, asthma, hay fever, croup, quinsy, or sore lungs. Price 50c and $1. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Oberdorfer.

FOR RENT.

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.

He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, healthy flesh.

It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. Constipation is the most unclean uncleanness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.

Joe Lewis to Manage Paris Team.

Joe Lewis, for three years manager of the Marion club, of the Ohio State League, will in all probability manage the Paris Club the coming season. This information comes from Marion where Lewis has been on a visit for several days before going to his home in Marietta, Pa.

President Bacon, of the Paris club has been in communication with Lewis and a contract has been forwarded him, and while nothing official has been reported to the head of the local club the information comes from a reliable source, and it is regarded positively that he has accepted the terms advanced to him by the Paris management and his contract is expected within the next few days.

Lewis, it is said, expects to bring a number of the former members of the Marion club to Paris with him next spring, and with this object in view has asked for a number of blank contracts of the local club. He is regarded as a high class manager and during the three years he served at the head of the Marion club never finished lower than the third position.

President Bacon has forwarded contracts to the men held on the reserve list by the Paris club as follows: Danny Harrell, Pittsburg, Pa.; Wm. Kuhlman, Cincinnati, O.; B. F. Goodman, Paintsville, Ky.; Ollie Chapman, Cincinnati; Claude Maxwell, Indianapolis, Ind.; James Hauser, Lyons, Ind., and George Schrauder, Cincinnati.

Steam Shovel Unearths Skeleton.

A steam shovel employed in excavating for the double track of the Louisville and Nashville railroad road near Kiseron unearthed the skeleton of a human being that had evidently been buried a number of years. The bones are in a fair state of preservation, and give evidence of being a man of immense stature. In the vicinity of the place where the skeleton was found it is said there was an Indian burying ground, where the remains of Swante Indians killed in an attack on a settler's cabin, at the mouth of Cooper's Run, when Kentucky was a wilderness, were buried by the backwoodsmen.

MATRIMONIAL.

The Purcell, Okla., Register gives the following account of the marriage of Miss Rosa Margolen, formerly of this city, to Mr. Jos. H. Baum, of Chickasha, Okla.:

"The wedding of Mr. Joseph H. Baum, of Chickasha, and Miss Rosa Margolen, formerly of Paris, Kentucky, but for some time past making her home with her sister, Mrs. George Schwartz, of this city, on Monday afternoon, January 1, 1912, at 3:30 o'clock, was pronounced by all of the large number of friends who witnessed it one of the most beautiful ceremonies ever held in the town. It had been the intention to hold the wedding at the home of Mr. Schwartz but so many friends of the young lady wished to attend that the house would not accommodate them and the Baptist church was kindly loaned for the happy occasion.

"The reformed Hebrew ceremony, in use from time immemorial, was used by Dr. Blatt, of Oklahoma City, the officiating Rabbi, who delivered the beautiful charges with which the ceremony is replete, in a solemnly impressive manner, giving an added beauty to the richly poetic lines by his masterly delivery. The bride, beautifully attired in white marquise, over duchess satin, carrying a bouquet of bride's roses, entered on the arm of her father, Mr. Herman Margolen, of Paris, Ky., the groom, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Theresa Baum, of Chickasha, Okla. During the ceremony Miss Wolfstein, of Paris, Ky., a vocalist of rare attainments, possessing a voice of wonderful sweetness, most beautifully sang two songs, "Because," and "I Love You Truly."

The wedding march from "Lohengrin," was most tastefully rendered by Mrs. J. F. Sharp, of Oklahoma City, accompanied by Mrs. Geo. Schwartz on the violin.

Prior to the wedding a delightful five course dinner was served to the immediate families of the bride and groom at the pretty home of Mrs. Schwartz; upon its conclusion a reception was held at the same place, delicious refreshments, consisting of ices and cakes, fashioned in heart designs being served. Later some excellent music was given by the University Orchestra of Norman.

"The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful and expensive gifts from their many friends and relatives, together with the most hearty good wishes of all who know them.

"The bride and groom left on the Santa Fe north at 6 o'clock. The bride's traveling-dress was a handsome blue suit, with hat, gloves and shoes to match. After spending a few weeks visiting relatives of both parties in Illinois and Kentucky, they will return to Chickasha, where the groom has elegantly furnished apartments ready to receive the lovely girl he has won."

Mr. Louis Saloshin, of this city, an uncle of the bride, attended the wedding.

—Mr. George Crouch, of Bourbon, and Miss Ida Clinkebeard, of Nicholas county, were married at Carlisle Monday.

—Miss Ruby Squires and Mr. Claude Ratliff, both of Carlisle, were united in marriage in that city Monday at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Turkey Squires, Elder E. R. Templeman officiating. Mr. Ratliff was formerly engaged in the livery business in Carlisle and for some time has conducted a restaurant at the L. & N. depot in this city. He is at present associated with Mr. Guy Overby, of Paris, in the management of the Kimbrough House in Carlisle.

—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Behrman, of Newport, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Josephine, to Mr. J. W. Bacon, of this city. The wedding will be a social event in February at the home of the bride-elect's parents.

The announcement is received with a great deal of interest here, where the to-be-bridegroom has many friends in both social and business circles. He is the popular president of the Paris Base Ball Club, and is very prominent in business circles.

Miss Behrman is a very attractive young woman, a social favorite, and has been a frequent visitor to this city, being the guest of Miss Corinne Collins on numerous occasions, and made many friends while here.

—Mrs. B. M. Shive left Tuesday for Pulaski, Tenn., where she was matron of honor at the marriage of her brother, Mr. Cecil Appleby, to Miss Lula Montgomery, which was celebrated in that city yesterday afternoon at the Methodist church.

—The meeting of the Paris Literary Club was held Wednesday afternoon. "The Psychological Novel" was the general subject, and Mrs. Ossian Edwards contributed a very interesting paper on "George Elliott and Her Novels," which was followed by "Romola, a Study," by Mrs. Amos Turney, Jr. Misses Anna May and Laura Lilleston presented current events.

The Pool of Flame is in the keeping of my good friend, the Governor-General of Algeria. It is all arranged. He knows nothing of its value, save that it is great, and will deliver it to you and only you without question. . . . That is all."

FREE FOR STOMACH AND BOWELS

We are in receipt of letters from Mrs. Eva Gaskins, 304 Madison St., Topeka, Kan., and Mr. P. H. Gavellias, Wagoner, Okla., as well as many others, telling about the wonderful results they have secured in the cure of their stomach and liver troubles by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Peppermint.

This remedy, as all readers doubtless know, has been before the public for a generation and is now being more extensively used than any other remedy for stomach, liver and bowel complaints. According to reliable testimony, it seems to be a very quick and lasting cure for constipation, indigestion and dyspepsia, liver trouble, biliousness, headaches, sour stomach, gas on the stomach, drowsiness after eating and similar disorders. It is a liquid with tonic effect, and so mild and gentle in action that a child as well as a grown person can take it, in fact, it has no equal for children, women and old people.

It arouses the flow of gastric juice, and by a peculiar action trains the stomach and bowel muscles to again do their work naturally, and in time medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with. A free sample bottle can be had for trial by sending your address to the doctor, for in this way Mrs. Gaskins, Mr. Gavellias and many others first learned of the cure. Later, when satisfied it is the remedy you need, do as others are doing and buy it of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle.

For the free sample address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 402 Caldwell building Monticello, Ill.

HONOR ROLL

Of Paris Public School For Month of December—Enrollment, While, 714—Average Attendance 586

List of Honor Students.

Everything was in excellent condition during December. The attendance in the white school was 596, while it was only 474 for the month of December last year.

Mrs. Clark Clark, the efficient Truant officer, is doing excellent work, and this month we are having an average attendance of nearly 600.

The colored school is in the best condition that we have ever known it. The enrollment is 346 and the attendance 286. This is an average daily attendance in both schools of 882 and an enrollment of 1,060.

Splendid interest is manifest everywhere, yet, a few pupils—as is always the case—are not willing to work, or they are incapable to do the work. All except very few are doing most excellent work. Our schools do not "furnish capacity" nor give undeserved grades.

the rattle of firing. He screamed something in O'Rourke's ear as the latter passed, and turning threw himself flat and began to pump the trigger of his carbine, emptying the magazine at the on-sweeping line of Touareggs.

The alarm was hardly needed; O'Rourke and the guide swept on over the lip of a depression in the desert and halted in the midst of a camp already quickened and alive with shadowy figures running methodically to their posts, carbine and accoutrement gleaming in the moonlight: men of the camel corps, hardened to and familiar with their work. They buckled down to it in a business-like way that thrilled the heart of O'Rourke. In a trice they were doubling out past lines of tethered mehara, past the white hillocks of the officers' shelter-tents and, like the sentry, throwing themselves down upon the ground to take shelter of whatever inequalities the face of the desert offered; and their firing ringing O'Rourke with a fringe of flame.

O'Rourke slipped from his camel and turned to watch the skirmish.

Massed, the Touaregg, in strength greater than the adventurer had believed—something like two hundred mounted men, in all charged down upon the camp as if to over-run and stampede it.

Yet at the critical moment, when it seemed that of a surety there was no stopping them, they divided and swung round the camp in two wide circles, scattering into open order and firing as they scattered. Here and there a horse fell, a rider threw out his hands and toppled from his saddle, a camel seemed to buckle at full tilt like a faulty piece of machinery; and so gaps appeared in the flying wings.

For the men of the flying column were picked shots. They had need to be, who had such tasks as this to cope with.

Nor—for that matter—were the Touareggs the only sufferers. Here and there in the camp a man plunged forward in mid-stride, and on the firing line beyond the tents now and again a sharpshooter shuddered and lay still upon his arms. Even at O'Rourke's side an officer was shot as he ran to the front, and would have fallen had not the Irishman caught him with ready arms and let him easily to the earth. As he did so the stricken man rolled an agonized eye upward.

"O'Rourke!" he said between a groan and a sigh.

And O'Rourke, kneeling at his side and peering into his face, gave a bitter cry. For he had found Chambret.

CHAPTER VIII.

Preparations for breakfast were toward; an aroma of coffee and bacon hung in the still, crisp air. The troopers were bustling about as if nothing had happened, laughing and joking, cleaning rifles, feeding the mehara, striking tents, drawing water from the palm-ringed well round which the camp had been made.

Out of sight beyond the edge of the sunken oasis a detachment was digging shallow trenches for the dead.

In the open Chambret lay dying, a stark grim figure in the growing light. O'Rourke sat by his side, near the head of the improvised litter, elbow in knee, chin in hand, eyes fixed on the face of his friend.

Just before sunrise the man on the litter stirred, moaned, opened his eyes and turned his head to see O'Rourke. He smiled wanly. "Mon ami," he said in tones faint yet thick.

The Irishman rose. "Don't talk," said he. "I'll be calling the surgeon."

But Chambret stayed him with a gesture. "Has he not told you, dear friend?" he asked.

O'Rourke hesitated. "Told me what?"

"That my wound was fatal—mortal? . . . Surely he must have told you. It is so. Presently I die . . . . . . . Let him be—this surgeon: I am beyond his aid. Attend to me, in my last moments, O'Rourke, my friend."

The adventurer vacillated, torn by an agony of compassion. "I must do something for ye," he said miserably. . . . . "I must do something. . . . What can I do?"

"Comfort me." The dying man closed his eyes and lay still for a little. "You are not gone, O'Rourke?" he asked presently.

"I'm here, be your side, mon ami."

"Tell me . . . of madame . . . your wife. She is well?"

"She is very well, Chambret."

"You have seen her recently?"

"Within ten days."

"You have . . . returned to her?"

"No—and yes. 'Twas not for lack of love for her that I gave her up—"

"Yes," said Chambret impatiently. "That I understand. . . . I comprehend utterly your feeling. . . . But you owe her happiness, though you sacrifice your own—everything—to give it her. She loves you . . . as she might have loved even me had you not come into her life."

"True. . . ."

"You are about to pocket your scruples that she may have her due portion of happiness?"

"I've promised, Chambret."

"I am glad. . . . But you—what has brought you hither?"

"I wished to see ye."

But the dying are oftentimes and strangely endowed with curious insight into matters beyond their ken. Without perceptible hesitation Chambret made this apparent.

"You have come for the ruby," he said with conviction.

"How did ye know?"

Burley was picked up by the detective first and after admitting having burglarized the store implicated the other negro, who was later placed under arrest, and who also confessed. A large part of the stolen goods, which consisted of clothing, razors, knives, a rifle and tobacco, and returned to Mr. Mallory. Bloodhounds were sent to the scene the morning following the robbery, taking a trail which was followed to a house close by.

Their statement that they had stayed in a barn until twelve o'clock when they went to the store and forced an entrance was verified by the act that a lantern left in the stable was found the next morning, where it had been overturned in pile of straw, which was partly consumed.
